The Oklahoma Turning Point Initiative is public health improvement in action. The success of the Turning Point process involves a partnership between the state and county departments of health, local communities, and policy-makers. The Oklahoma Turning Point engine is fueled by a community-based decision making process whereby local communities tap into the capacities, strengths, and vision of their citizens to create and promote positive, sustainable changes in the public health system, and the public’s health.

We are at a cross roads in our state and in Canadian County. Please come and be part of the solutions that will lead Oklahoma and Canadian County to becoming a healthy place to live, work and learn.
