

ISSUE NUMBER SIXTY-NINE • May 27, 2016

Good Monday afternoon to you. As you know, today is the 72nd Anniversary of D-Day. There are a handful of truly special days in American history that also altered the course of the world, and D-Day is one. President Reagan gave a speech on the 40th Anniversary D-Day from the cliffs of Pointe du Hoc on Normandy Beach, where he poignantly summarized the bloody and monumental day with these elegant words about the brave men who were there:

"These are the boys of Pointe du Hoc.

"These are the men who took the cliffs.

"These are the champions who helped free a continent. And these are the heroes who helped end a war."

You can watch the full video of his 1984 speech below - it is certainly worth the time.

Also, last week the conversation about the the president's unlawful bathroom mandate continued. The Oklahoman gave us credit for taking the best approach to the issue, and I laid out the reasoning for our lawsuit in a column for The Wall Street Journal. You can read both below as well.

Connect with us!

For the very latest from the Attorney General's office like us on Facebook, follow us on Twitter, or keep up using Instagram.

